Great price and quality

At first I was skeptical as I am a CNC Machinist by trade and need quality indicators. These work great and have passed yearly inspections from quality, I'd highly recommend!

Does the job and excellent quality. Use often at machinist job. Accusize makes an indicator just as well made as the conglomerate named ones. I trust mine!

Great price, seems trustworthy so far, time will tell.

I've had a great experience with my 0-6" mic set from Accusize that was on par compared to my Mitutoyo 0-3" set so I thought I'd try the indicator. Clear, precise and smooth so far. Time will tell how it will last compared to a mitutoyo.

The only gripe I have is so minor I feel bad to even include it: the small dovetail mount was very nearly incompatible with my Noga base, but after monkeying around with it I did manage to make it fit. The screw-on adapter was immediately compatible.

If you are just starting out, please give this a try. I had reservations about it, but it turned out well for me and I'm sure it will work for you as well.

Best quality for the price

Have bought several of these and always been happy. To me it's the best one you can buy before stepping up to the hundred dollar range or more indicators.

Does the job

Reviewed in Canada on April 21, 2023

Verified Purchase

Good indicator for it's price. Feels cheap in quality (as their other products) compared to Starrett and Mitutoyo but gets the job done, already tested. The box could be better though, I'm just curious how many times it'll be able to open/close before breaking.

Good indicator

Pretty good and fairly well built. It does it's job and is more than adequate for my needs. Happy with my purchase.

I bought this on a whim. It doesn't have the same feel as the usual expensive name brands but that's to be expected.

Overall it works very well.

I would recommend it over any other lower price test dial

Seems to work ok but a little gritty feeling.

Wish I could buy different ends for it.
